Phir Hera Pheri in Hindi (2010) 1080p Hindi Movie Compilation.Q: How do I force an SFML Window to display its window title as it is written in the window manager options? My application is still in development and I need my window title to display what is set in the window manager. It shows as something like My Application in the title bar when the window is moved. Right now I have this in the main function sf::RenderWindow window(sf::VideoMode(800, 600), "My Application", sf::Style::Default); I have tried: window.set title("My Application"); but it won't display what I type when the window is displayed. It just says "My Application". I am probably missing something, so would someone please help me figure out what I have missed? A: I'm guessing you're talking about the "Window Title" setting in the Appearance menu. This setting only affects the title shown in the title bar. To assign a custom title to the window, use the Window::setTitle()

member function:

window.setTitle("my title"); 1. Field of the Invention This invention relates to printing mechanisms, and more particularly, to an apparatus and method for printing an image on both sides of a sheet. 2. Description of the Prior Art An apparatus for printing both sides of a sheet is described in U.S. Pat. No. 3,838,006 issued Oct. 1, 1974 to Walter Jaeger. The apparatus described in the Jaeger patent comprises a first printhead for printing a first side of a sheet, a second printhead for printing a second side of the sheet, and an inverter, interposed between the first printhead and the second printhead and adapted to invert the flow of sheet material from the first printhead to the second printhead.

Inverting the flow of material from one printhead to another printhead can increase the feed rate of the sheet material through the printing system. This may be advantageous when such a printing system is used in conjunction with a sheet-fed printing press. However, the Jaeger apparatus is unable to operate independently of a second printhead.Q: Tooltip not d0c515b9f4
