"I am calling on all the candidates to halt the debates and be open to a conversation about what must be addressed to win this election and what must be honored if we are to move forward together," Williamson, who announced her plans via a post on Facebook, said in a statement. "If we are to have a democracy, we must return to a way of life in which all are cared for and love and trust are honored," Williamson said in the statement. "We must be guided by a love that is more powerful than the polarization and despair that currently mark our lives." Williamson, a self-help author and California congresswoman, said in her post that "love has always been our best guide." "The political and economic systems in this country are failing us," Williamson continued. "The impact of the Trump administration has been like a punch in the gut to many of us, and our very sense of well-being and the earth's well-being is under attack." Williamson was one of several Democratic candidates who declined to participate in a CNN forum Wednesday. Sen. Bernie Sanders, I-Vt., and former Rep. Beto O'Rourke, D-Texas, also skipped the forum. Rep. Tulsi Gabbard, D-Hawaii, and former Rep. John Delaney, D-Md., did not say whether they would attend the upcoming debate. The Democratic National ca3bfb1094

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Prepare a large bowl with cold water and ice. 2. In a deep pot or Dutch oven, combine the chicken, sauce, water, and butter. Stir well and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low and let simmer for 1 hour. Add raisins and cook for 1 hour more. 3. Meanwhile, to prepare the cupcakes, preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line a cupcake pan with liners. In a large bowl, combine flour, sugar, and baking powder. Add water, oil, and vanilla and beat well with a hand mixer. 4. Scoop cupcake batter into cupcake liners and bake for 17 to 20 minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean when inserted in the center of a cupcake. Cool completely. 5. In a large bowl, combine the cereal and coconut. Spread out evenly in a greased pie pan. 6. Combine the peaches, pineapple, raisins, and juice in a blender. Process for 2 minutes or until smooth.
