Like you I am sorry to say I have never experienced the splendor of the Shaker church. To me it is a bit strange and I cannot comprehend it. I like the pictures on the Billboard and the videos of the Holy Spirit working in the world. I can feel the Spirit coming into the church and moving through us. Sometimes it is a terrible thing to watch. I have talked with many from the Shakers and their practice of being 'in the world but not of the world'. They come from a different place and a different way of thinking. I have not experienced the 'ripple effect' that I hear they have over there. No it is not the same experience as the Holy Spirit. There are no words to explain it. It is just something beautiful that I want to experience. There are many who try to imitate and copy but it is not the same. All of us are children of God. We do not have to be in the world to be of the world. We can be in the world, yet without being of the world. God has revealed himself in a new way. You may have an understanding of the Holy Spirit and his work. You may not know what I am talking about. It is not necessary to go to the Shaker church to know the Holy Spirit. You can be 'in the world but not of the world', as the Shakers call it. We can walk in the new love of Christ, it is not necessary to 'do' anything except love others. Most of us can call the name of Christ and be delivered. I have been blessed with this gift. I am living a new life. There are many who can feel the Spirit and not be 'in the world'. They can touch the radiance of Christ's love. So you do not have to go 'to' the church in order to know God, it is not necessary to go anywhere. The Shaker Church is different, you can know the Spirit there. I know what you mean. I have a hard time with being in the world as I have been. I can see what you
