An HTTP error is a common side-effect of using the Cloudflare CDN service. The error is simply a mis-understanding of the underlying TCP handshake that is required when a webpage tries to contact a website on the CDN. Users can now save up to 200GB of data by saving photos, text, and audio files on their device and then uploading them to the cloud when available bandwidth is detected or when connected to Wi-Fi. The Cloud Player app takes streaming to a whole new level by connecting to Amazon Cloud Player and downloading the latest songs, albums, playlists, and Internet radio stations. Plus, you can easily create your own stations and download them directly to your iPhone, iPod touch, iPad and Mac. You can even use your existing Cloud Player account to sync content between your devices. The live music capabilities also let you play music as it plays on the radio. My Cloud OS 5 devices were vulnerable to a cross-site request forgery through an admin interface that is only exposed on the LAN when the Transmission application is installed. A crafted request uri-path could cause mod_proxy to forward the request to an origin server chosen by the remote user. This vulnerability affects the Apache HTTP Server 2.4.4.48 and earlier. The vulnerability is not properly addressed in PR#32 . Even when using the patched version of dnscrypt-proxy.conf , it is still recommended to remove the DNSCrypt server. When using Cloudflare as a CDN, it is important to keep in mind that not all features of the service are enabled by default. In order to do this explicitly, you must go to the 'Settings' menu and activate any of the available services such as Email, MxCheck, Storage, and the other CDN services (see above).
